

In re Thomas L. DORWARTH, Debtor.

No. 00-18724-BKC-AJC

(Cite as: 258 B.R. 293)

United States Trustee moved to dismiss Chapter 7 case as "substantial abuse" of provisions of that Chapter. A debtor who had ability, after eliminating or reducing certain unnecessary expenses, including payment for upkeep of retired police horses, to fund 36-month Chapter 13 plan that would pay unsecured creditors nearly 100% on their claims could not continue in Chapter 7.
